

22 June 2010

SHOWTECH 2011
International Trade Fair and Conference for Stage Technology, Equipment and Event Services
7 – 9 June 2011, Berlin Exhibition Centre

SHOWTECH 2011: New Lecture Forum to Complement Conference

A new lecture forum and new themes on the Safety Action Stage: one year before opening, SHOWTECH 2011, the International Trade Fair and Congress for Stage Technology, Equipment and Event Services, further enlarges its programme. The 15th edition of the trade fair will take place from 7 to 9 June 2011 in Berlin. One year before the start of SHOWTECH, 65 percent of the exhibition area have already been booked. A total of 350 international exhibitors are expected in the halls at the foot of the Berlin Television Tower.

Forum complements DTHG Congress

Once more, SHOWTECH will be accompanied by the conference of the Deutsche Theatertechnische Gesellschaft (DTHG), the institutional patron of the fair. For SHOWTECH 2011, DTHG has revised its seminar and conference concept. The core element will be the new DTHG Forum which will complement the conference programme. The lecture forum will be located right inside the exhibition halls and enable visitors to attend short lectures and discussions spontaneously. Themes will include best practice examples such as international projects for renovating stages and theatres.

For the first time, visitors will have the opportunity to propose topics for the conference programme. Proposals can be submitted in the SHOWTECH Forum on the DTHG homepage, as well as on the SHOWTECH Facebook page.

New themes on the Safety Action Stage

SHOWTECH 2011 will also expand the range of themes of its EVENT3 forum as well as of the accompanying programme on the Safety Action Stage. The Safety Action Stage especially proved to be a strong point of attraction for visitors. The lectures and demonstrations on safe rigging and personal safety equipment were particularly popular. One of the new themes planned for 2011 is the safe handling of laser devices.

About SHOWTECH

From 7 to 9 June the curtain will be up on SHOWTECH 2011 in Berlin. A total of 350 exhibitors are expected at the Berlin Exhibition Centre. As the “world forum for the stage” the SHOWTECH specialist fair with its offer of products and services in the field of stage technology has been an international market leader for 25 years. The fair also presents new products and product developments from the areas of professional lighting technology, audio and media technology, equipment and décor.

Technical managers and creative staff from theatres and opera houses, but also from television studios, exhibition centres and other event locations find a unique range of products and services at the fair. With the EVENT3 platform, SHOWTECH offers ideas and know-how for new concepts also to event managers from agencies and companies.

www.showtech.de

www.showtech.de/dthg-forum

www.facebook.com/showtech.show